Broadband Associate to build “Future- Proof” Fiber Optic Network for SCUSD:

SCUSD and Broadband Associates, based in Roseville, California have entered into an agreement for Broadband to construct, light, and manage a private district-wide fiber-optic network the district will own.

Under the agreement signed earlier this year, the network will be constructed throughout the city of Santa Clara and will tie together 24 district campuses, the district’s performing arts and administration centers. To the delight of many students and faculty in the district who use the district’s current network for conducting research and accessing educational content on the Internet, the new fiber network will reportedly provide 600 times more bandwidth than the district currently has and will support virtually unlimited growth. In addition, the agreement calls for Broadband to provide a state-of-the-art private video system with capacity for the district to simultaneously broadcast eighty channels of live and on-demand video for distance learning, video conferencing and visual and performing arts.

The district will pay for the project with bond measure funds acquired 3 years ago and calculates the network will pay for itself through the elimination of all leased telecommunications facilities.
